FORWARD

Currently, there are an estimated 3.9 million people infected with hepatitis C and 1 million with hepatitis B in this country alone. Furthermore, there are many Americans living with hepatitis who are unaware of their disease status. For example, it is estimated that 70 percent of the estimated four million Americans infected with hepatitis C, do not know they have the disease. Hence the need for more screening and testing, education, and resource information.

It is the mission of the Nevada State Health Division's Hepatitis Program to provide the foundation for the prevention, control, and elimination of viral hepatitis in Nevada.

In line with its mission statement, the Nevada State Health Division developed this Nevada Statewide Hepatitis Resource Directory to make it possible for people with viral hepatitis, people at risk for hepatitis, and providers to locate available hepatitis services and referral sources throughout the state. In addition, the information collected for this Directory will allow the Health Division to determine the hepatitis service gaps that exist within each Nevada county.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Nevada State Health Division would like to express its appreciation to Charlene Howard, Hepatitis Coordinator, for her efforts in pioneering the Nevada Statewide Hepatitis Resource Directory (Directory). The Nevada State Health Division would also like to thank Sara McConnell, MPA for her assistance in the development of this Directory.

In addition, the Nevada State Health Division would like to express its appreciation to the following members of the Nevada State Hepatitis Advisory Committee for their continued support and assistance with the Directory:

Alex Lapasaran, MSN, NP-C
Denise Stokich, RN, BSN
Darla Liebel
Ken Morgan
Linda Verchick, MS
Paul Saucedo
Sandy Curl
Saundra Hart, RN
Scott Mambourg, Pharm.D., BCPS

Finally, the Nevada State Health Division would like to thank all the hospitals; local and state health departments; private and non-profit organizations; physician's offices; support groups; community health clinics; and other establishments that provided valuable information about their services for the purposes of this Directory.

INTRODUCTION

Information about this Directory

We hope this hepatitis resource directory will be helpful to you in your ongoing search for the latest information and resources. Please keep in mind that resources are constantly changing and it is impossible to include every listing and to keep all the information accurate. Please help us to make it more comprehensive by submitting additions or corrections to the Nevada State Health Division at (775) 684-5900. For more information, please visit the state's website address at <http://health.nv.gov>.

Any agency or service listed here is not necessarily endorsed by the Nevada State Health Division but is provided solely as helpful information. The Nevada State Health Division assumes no liability for the use of any services mentioned.

As illustrated by the Table of Contents, the hepatitis resources included in this Directory are grouped by Nevada counties. Please refer to the Table of Contents when looking up hepatitis services by county.

Hepatitis Overview

Following is a brief overview of the difference between Hepatitis A, B, C, D, and E:

In the United States, viral hepatitis is an important public health problem because it causes serious illness, it affects millions, and it has a close connection with HIV. Included below is information for Hepatitis A, B, C, D and E. This information was provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Nevada State Health Division:

Hepatitis A is a liver disease caused by the hepatitis A virus (HAV). Hepatitis A can affect anyone. In the United States, hepatitis A can occur in situations ranging from isolated cases of disease to widespread epidemics. Hepatitis A virus is spread from person to person by putting something in the mouth that has been contaminated with the stool of a person with hepatitis A. This type of transmission is called "fecal-oral." For this reason, the virus is more easily spread in areas where there are poor sanitary conditions or where good personal hygiene is not observed. Good personal hygiene and proper sanitation can help prevent hepatitis A. Vaccines are available for long-term prevention of hepatitis A virus infection in persons 12 months of age and older. Immune globulin is available for short-term prevention of hepatitis A virus infection in individuals of all ages.

Hepatitis B is a serious disease caused by a virus that attacks the liver. The virus, which is called hepatitis B virus (HBV), can cause lifelong infection, cirrhosis (scarring) of the liver, liver cancer, liver failure, and death. HBV is spread when blood or body fluids from an infected person enters the body of a person who is not infected. For example, HBV is spread through having sex with an infected person without using a condom (the efficacy of latex condoms in preventing infection with HBV is unknown, but their proper use might reduce transmission), by sharing drugs, needles, or "works" when "shooting" drugs, through needle sticks or sharps exposures on the job, or from an infected mother to her baby during birth. Hepatitis B vaccine is available for all age groups to prevent hepatitis B virus infection. There is also treatment therapy for hepatitis B.

Hepatitis C is a liver disease caused by the hepatitis C virus (HCV), which is found in the blood of persons who have the disease. HCV is spread by contact with the blood of an infected person, and is transmitted in much the same way as hepatitis B; by sharing drugs and the preparation tools, including coke straws; through needle sticks or sharps exposures on the job; and blood transfusions performed before 1992. There is also a risk when receiving tattoos and body piercing when equipment is not sterile.

INTRODUCTION

Although the virus can be transmitted from infected mother to baby during birth, the rate is less than five percent. The incidence of sexually transmitting hepatitis C is also low. There is no vaccine for hepatitis C, however there is treatment.

Hepatitis D is a liver disease caused by the hepatitis D virus (HDV), a defective virus that needs the hepatitis B virus to exist, and is transmitted in the same way as hepatitis B. HDV is found in the blood of persons infected with the virus. There is treatment for hepatitis D.

Hepatitis E is a liver disease caused by the hepatitis E virus (HEV) and is transmitted in much the same way as the hepatitis A virus. Hepatitis E, however, does not occur often in the United States.
